Russia to Cast 88th Veto to Prevent Probe

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Smaller nations in the U. N. Security Council challenged the Soviet Union today to prove its charge that a U. S. RB-47 plane penetrated Soviet air space before it was shot down July 1.

Both Italy and Argentina warned the U. S. R. it risked jolting world public opinion by rejecting an American proposal for an impartial international investigation. Both expressed deep skepticism of the Soviet story.

The Soviet Union was expected by some U. N. diplomats to cast its 88th veto to prevent international investigation of the incident in which one American flier was killed, three are missing and two are Soviet captives facing trial as spies.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov told the Security Council Monday his government is "resolutely opposed" to the U. S. proposal that the U. S. and Soviet governments submit their dispute over the plane to the international commission or to the international court of justice.

The only purpose of such an inquiry, said Kuznetsov, would be to "confuse a completely clear issue."

The U. N. diplomats also anticipated that a majority of the 11-nation council would vote down a Soviet resolution asking the council to condemn "continuing provocative actions by the United States Air Force" and to insist that the U. S. government stop such flights.

In the debate Monday U. S. delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denied the Soviet charge that the RB-47 was on a spy flight and was over Soviet territorial waters when it was shot down in the Barents Sea.

Lodge told the council the plane was on an "electromagnetic observation flight" and never came closer than 30 miles to the Soviet coast, 38 miles beyond the 12-mile limit the Soviets put on their territorial waters.

Kuznetsov charged that Lodge's version was "fabricated and his maps falsified. But Sir Pierson Dixon of Britain told the council his government also "has reliable evidence" to show that the plane never went within 30 miles of the Soviet coast.

The Soviets are holding two of the plane's six crewmen for trial as spies, and three are missing. The body of the sixth, the pilot, was recovered by the Soviets and was flown to a U. S. base in Germany Monday.

Overhead Water Tank Now in Use

The 600,000 gallon overhead storage tank, a topic of discussion in Hope for many years, has now been completed and is in service.

The R. D. Cole Mfg. Co., of Newman, Georgia, who had a contract to erect the tank for a total of $71,790.00, completed work last week. The tank has been tested and sterilized with 300 lbs. of chlorine solution. City Manager Garland Modders made final inspection and today approved the final estimate for the R. D. Cole Mfg. Co.

The foundation for the tank was built by the Bell Bottom Foundation Company of Houston on a low bid of $13,489.50. The concrete work was done by the Lavender Construction Co., a local concern, operating on a sub-contract with the Bell Bottom Foundation Co.

Last year, in preparation for the installation of the overhead storage tank, 3,400' of 12" cast iron water mains and about 2,000' of 8" cast iron water mains were installed. All sub-standard fire hydrants along the routes of the new mains were removed and replaced with standard hydrants together with the additional hydrants necessary to give fire coverage along the line.

As the tank was being installed, the Water Department laid 560' of 12" cast iron pipe to connect the tank into the system. The total cost of the water main improvements involved are around $45,000 making a total cost of the entire project $130,000.

The location of the water mains and the overhead storage are as directed by the Engineering Department of the Arkansas Inspection and Rating Bureau, who has been insisting upon these improvements for a number of years. These additional improvements to the water system will upgrade the fire rating of the city.

Race Clashes Reported in S. Carolina

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP) — Several hundred whites and Negroes carrying weapons ranging from a pistol to a slingshot clashed near two white drive-in restaurants Monday night.

City police arrested 18 persons, mostly teen-agers, of both races. Outside the city, at another white drive-in two miles west of Greenville, another crowd of about 100 whites and Negroes were dispersed by four patrol cars and eight deputies from the sheriff's office. No arrests were made.

This was the second night of racial disturbances in this northwestern South Carolina city. On Sunday, a brief scuffle involving about 200 whites and Negro teenagers broke out near a drive-in restaurant.

Capt. G. O. Bramlette of the Greenville police said that lunch counter demonstrations at two downtown variety stores here last Thursday probably triggered the incidents. At that time a crowd of 500 whites and Negroes milled about after Negroes left sit-ins at the S. H. Kross and the W. T. Grant stores.

Some punches were exchanged between the two groups, and three white youths were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. Of the 18 persons arrested Monday night, one was a white man, about 40, who carried a pistol. A set of brass knuckles was taken from another participant and a slingshot from still another.

Police said most of those arrested would be charged with disorderly conduct. They included 10 Negroes and 8 whites. Two of the 18 were under 16 years of age.

Urges Support of 14 Point Program

By ROBERT T. GRAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller urged fellow Republican governors today to support the 14-point statement of principles he drafted with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, arriving at a breakfast meeting of governors attending the Republican National Convention, said he and others would try once more to change Rockefeller's decision against running for vice president on the ticket Nixon is to head.

"With the proper presentation," Hatfield said, "Rockefeller could become the vice presidential nominee."

But the New York governor has said repeatedly he will not take the second spot.

Other governors invited to the meeting were Robert T. Stafford of Vermont, Christopher Del Sesto of Rhode Island, William F. Quinn of Hawaii, John Reed of Maine and J. Caleb Boggs of Delaware.

Meanwhile, the New York State delegation was poised to leap into the Nixon presidential camp.

Couldn't Change the Others Vote

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — During their five days as hospital roommates, William D. Culver and James Lowery talked a lot of politics. But neither changed the other's stand.

Lowery, 34, of Little Rock, said he would vote today for H. E. Williams, Culver, 84, of North Little Rock, pledged his ballot to Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Both got permission to leave the hospital to vote.

Wants State to Take Over Ferry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposal that the state take over operation of the Sylamore Ferry on White River in Izard County will be presented to the Arkansas Highway Commission Thursday.

Highway Director F. B. Oliver said yesterday the owners of the ferry, who have discontinued operation, suggested that the state take it over.

The ferry, which residents of the area want replaced with a bridge, is on the agenda for the commission's public hearings, which will follow opening of bids on about two million dollars worth of road and bridge projects.

Defense Plan May Embrace Rock's Idea

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Platform Committee today decided a motion to reconsider its defense plank—presumably to embrace the defense build-up views of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Charles A. Percy, Platform Committee chairman, told newsmen the motion to reconsider the defense declaration had been made before the committee.

Further details were unavailable immediately. Percy ducked back into the hotel room where the committee was meeting.

Rockefeller earlier had said the defense plank was not strong enough for him. It did not meet his proposal for an extra 3 1/2 billion dollars of spending.

The plank commended the defense policies of President Eisenhower and denied that defense expenditures have been held to a price ceiling.

Negroes Ask for Strong Rights Bill

CHICAGO (AP) — An estimated 10,000 Negroes, carrying signs and singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," demanded a strong civil rights plank of the Republican convention Monday.

The marchers went through South Side streets and halted outside the International Amphitheater where Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of New York spoke with leaders of the demonstration.

Keating told the marchers he had been appointed by the GOP National Committee as its spokesman. Keating's voting record established him as a strong civil rights supporter.

A. Philip Randolph, president of the Sleeping Car Porters Brotherhood, asked if the Platform Committee had settled on a plank.

"I can't tell you that," Keating replied. "I don't know. I'm not happy with the present civil rights plank but I think my selection to meet with you is significant."

"Do you think this is an indication that a strong civil rights plank will be adopted?" Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, asked.

"I don't know, but it would indicate to me that the Republican National Committee, at least, favors adoption of a strong civil rights plank."

Nixon, Rocky Team to Crush Rights Plank

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Platform Committee today decided to reconsider its defense plank—presumably to include some of the defense build-up views of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

One committee member, John G. Tower of Texas, left the committee room briefly and told newsmen the motion to reconsider had been carried by voice vote and apparently by a substantial majority.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Republican Platform Committee today agreed to reconsider the civil rights plank termed unsatisfactory by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

A parliamentary maneuver by advocates of a less far-reaching plank failed. It was considered likely the committee would go on to make some of the changes asked by Nixon in the plank previously approved by the Platform Committee.

Earlier, the committee broke under pressure and agreed to reconsider its plank on national defense.

By JACK BELL

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller teamed today in a power play aimed at crushing last-stand GOP convention opposition to a strong civil rights plank.

On a day set aside for a glowing review by President Eisenhower of his administration's record, the vice president and the governor of New York kept lieutenants working overtime on a mutually agreeable statement on national defense.

The plans to greet Eisenhower on his arrival and to give him a convention ovation tonight left almost nothing to chance. Unless a fog slipped, it would be the biggest thing of its kind the Republican party ever put on.

But in the backfield some confusion remained over the signals for an end run around the line of Southern and Western delegates

Bethlehem Steel Official Dies

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Eugene G. Grace, 83, who made Bethlehem Steel Corp. the nation's second largest producer, died Monday.

Grace, who for nearly half a century served as president, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, abandoned a promising career with the old Boston Braves to join Bethlehem in 1899 after graduating from Lehigh University at the top of his class.

His first job was that of an electric crane operator earning 15 cents an hour. He rose steadily until he became one of the highest paid corporate officers in the country. His salary and bonus totaled $1,560,000 in 1959.

Grace abounded in energy. At the age of 80 he was in the midst of directing Bethlehem's $300 million dollar expansion program designed to increase its 20 million ton annual capacity by 20 million tons.

His philosophy was that a business cannot afford to stand still any more than an individual can.

Voters Turn Out in Large Numbers to Select a Governor

Biennial Election Party to Be Held Tuesday Night at Star, Broadcast by KXAR

The Star, whose Election Night parties in South Walnut St. have drawn as high as 4,000 persons, will put on its usual show in front of the newspaper building Tuesday night, July 26, in collaboration with Radio Station KXAR.

KXAR will begin broadcasting scattered returns at 7 p. m. The newspaper's show will start at 7:30, with returns projected on a big screen mounted on First National Bank's parking lot across the street from the newspaper, by permission of the bank.

Returns from Humpstead and neighboring counties in local races will be tabulated by The Star or exchanged with neighboring county seats, as in the past; and The Associated Press will furnish state-wide returns in the gubernatorial and other campaigns.

The projection screen is the new one built for The Star two years ago by Hope Neon & Sign Co.

Hope GOPs to Heed the Speakers

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Will the Republicans pay more attention to the speakers at their convention than did the distracted Democrats?

Apparently so, judging from the first day of GOP sessions on TV. Of course, the Republicans have the advantage of hindsight, having witnessed the frenetic doings in Los Angeles a fortnight ago.

The Republican delegates in Chicago were urged by special message to avoid the recurrence of the rudeness of their Democratic counterparts who milled, mumbled and munched while their leaders orated.

The admonition appears to have paid off. Or maybe the Chicago event is better staged.

Still, there were the usual calls for order during the first day's proceedings. The initial words heard from the rostrum were spoken by actor Wendell Corey: "Please clear the aisles."

Monday the TV networks tried to put some life into what was feared would be a cut-and-dried convention and to a fair degree they succeeded.

Those who lamented that their favorite Westerns were preempted on TV were able to see both action and Indians.

The Indians were a dozen tribal chiefs who appeared on the convention platform for some obscure political ceremony. The action was provided by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The networks came forth with shots of the Nixon family arriving at Chicago, making their way through the airport crowd, flying by helicopter to Lakeside Chicago and driving through city streets to campaign headquarters.

Few arrivals have been as well covered since Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned to Leyte.

Convention Like Re-run of Series

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

CHICAGO (AP) — It's like a re-run of the World Series. You see the players running around the bases but you already know the score.

The Republican convention is pretty much a duplicate of the Democratic convention in Los Angeles two weeks ago.

Dull is an accurate word to describe them both.

At Los Angeles there never was much doubt Sen. John F. Kennedy would get the presidential nomination.

Here there never has been any doubt Vice President Richard M. Nixon would be the Republican presidential candidate. The convention will say so Wednesday.

With Kennedy it was just a question of which ballot he'd be nominated on. With Nixon it's even more cut and dried. He'll get it on the first.

The only surprise at Los Angeles was the choice of Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas to be Kennedy's vice presidential running mate.

Here the choice of Nixon's running mate still is up in the air. So that's the only element of surprise in Chicago.

In Los Angeles the Southern Democrats protested against the party's liberal civil rights plank. Here the Southern Republicans are protesting against the liberal civil rights plank demanded by Nixon and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Despite the machine-tooled nature of both conventions, the two parties still went through the traditional routine and long-winded speeches, full of bombast and exaggerations.

What the politicians of both parties seemed to overlook was how they looked on television.

In pre-TV days they could put their act on for hours and bore no one but themselves. Now, thanks to TV, they can bore the whole nation.

No wonder there is increasing talk for the need of future conventions to come abreast of the times, and cut their long-winded performances down to the essentials in choosing a presidential candidate.

There won't be much steam in either campaign until September, when the candidates start explaining how they'd carry out the promises made at these conventions.

Voters turned out in heavy numbers all over Arkansas today to pick a governor and scores of other officials in the Democratic primary.

Observers in half a dozen of the larger cities figured interest in the governor's race might account for the brisk parades to the polls.

The weather was fair throughout the state. Temperatures were in the 80s by the time the polls opened at 8:30, and highs in the 90s were predicted for all sections.

Port Smith reported more than 1,200 voters turned out in the first hour. Voter traffic was so heavy in one section of Pine Bluff that cars were tied up for awhile.

only in the governor's and attorney general's races.

Two congressional races also will be decided. Rep. Dale Alford (D-Ark.) who defeated former Roy Brooks (R) in a 1958 write-in election, is opposed by State Sen. Robert Hays Williams of Russellville in the 5th District. In the 4th District, Rep. J. W. Trimble (D-Ark.) is opposed by Donald Poe, Waldron attorney.

Also contested are 12 state senator nominations, six for prosecutor and three for chancery judge.

Two candidates for governor, Bennett and Williams, expressed the idea in television speeches last night that "Faubus' 1958 victory was to show the federal government it should stay out of Arkansas' business."

Now that that has been demonstrated, they said, Faubus should be defeated.

Federal troops enforced desegregation at Central High School after violence erupted over admission of nine Negroes.

Faubus, in his final speech, asked his opponents what they would have done in the 1957 crisis.

He charged that three of them, whom he did not name, would have chosen "surrender."

The governor again claimed that his administration was not to blame for the integration crisis.

He said that Dallas, Tex., had adopted an integration plan similar to the one he proposed last year for Little Rock. Under that plan, students could have attended either integrated or segregated schools.

Williams dwelt mostly on his platform, promising to make the Welfare Department and Highway Department completely free from politics to work for industrial and agricultural betterment, to improve education and to ease tension in the racial situation while keeping schools segregated.

Bennett, both in a TV speech and at a rally in his hometown of El Dorado, concentrated on his qualifications and predicted victory.

He said the state's great need was for leadership, which he said he could offer.

Hardin listed as the three great issues of the campaign economic and social well-being of the state, the threat to education he said was posed by Faubus and "the elimination of our freedoms under the Faubus administration."

Hardin said he felt his qualifications were better than those of the other candidates.

Millsap repeated several charges made previously and again contended that a receiver suit involving his oil company was politically inspired. He represented himself as "mountain boy" who as a young businessman was seeking the governorship against well-endowed political organizations.

Nixon Works for Strong Rights Plank

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today he had worked through the night in his fight to nail a strong civil rights plank into the Republican national platform.

A telephone conference with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an ally in this fight, was part of the effort.

The vice president reported to newsmen as he left his hotel suite for the first of a series of meetings with state delegations to the GOP convention.

He made it clear that his energies still were being devoted to an effort to win the kind of civil rights plank he is insisting on for the platform. He called off meetings to work on the matter.

"It's been a long night," Nixon said. "But we've made progress. I think we've made some yardage, and starting at 10 o'clock we'll know how much."

The platform committee is to convene at 10.

Nixon remained the almost certain presidential nominee of the Republicans.

Nixon said he talked with Rockefeller on the civil rights fight after returning to his hotel from a call on former President Herbert Hoover.

Nixon said he also talked by telephone with members of the platform committee and other party leaders before getting a little sleep.

Nixon's first meeting today was with delegates from four Southern states—the area where opposition to his civil rights ideas centers—Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Mississippi.

Congo Needs $10 Million to Keep Going

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP) — Finance Minister Pascal Nkanyu today said his government needs up to $10 million dollars of foreign funds to keep it running in August.

Nkanyu said the government can meet its payroll at the end of July, but unless foreign aid begins to arrive soon the state will collapse and the Congo will be plunged in unemployment and misery.

Three weeks of chaos following the army mutiny has stopped economic and social activity throughout the vast new nation and paralyzed the inexperienced government administration, he told a news conference.

He appealed again to Belgian and other foreign technicians who fled the country to return.

Nkanyu said the increase of jobs in the nation of more than 13 millions is catastrophic. Many factories and business establishments are closed for lack of competent supervision.

U. S. Ambassador Clare Timberlake, left, for Washington Monday night for consultations. Timberlake came to Leopoldville on the eve of independence almost four weeks ago.

President Joseph Kasavubu told Timberlake when the ambassador presented his credentials he was sorry for the unpleasantness which many diplomats have suffered in the recent troubled weeks. Kasavubu expressed the hope that missionaries who have left the country will return soon.

By Wednesday Maj. Gen. Carl von Horn's command expects to have about 9,000 multiracial troops on duty to pacify the country and enable economic wheels to start turning again.

At least in part for bargaining purposes on the latter point, he has been holding back the New York delegation, now committed to him for the presidential nomination, from a shift to Nixon.

From his session with the governors, Rockefeller headed into talks with delegation from New Jersey, the District of Columbia, Louisiana, North Dakota and Illinois.

Stations May Curb Report on Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two Little Rock television stations may have to revise their plans for extensive coverage of today's Arkansas Democratic primary because a woman Republican wants to watch proceedings of the Republican National Convention at Chicago.

Mrs. B.B. Pake of Little Rock yesterday sent a telegram to the Federal Communications Commission complaining that the stations were not granting the Republicans the same time they had the Democrats at their national convention.

The stations—KATV and KTHV—were notified by the FCC that their plans were not in accord with the equal time regulation of the Federal Communications Act.

Spokesmen for both stations said the eve of independence almost four weeks ago.

Weather Warnig for Part of State

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock issued the following thunderstorm warning today:

"Thunderstorms are expected to move into northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri shortly after noon, moving southeast during the afternoon and evening into northeast Oklahoma and northwest Arkansas. A few severe thunderstorms with damaging winds and hail are expected in an area 60 miles either side of a line from 60 miles west-northwest of St. Joseph, Mo., to Port Smith, Ark., from 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. (CST) today."

"This includes all or part of Benton, Carroll, Washington, Madison, Newton, Crawford, Franklin, Johnson and Sebastian counties in Arkansas."

Appeals to Rocky

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hearst newspapers today called upon New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to run for vice president on the Republican ticket for the sake of the party.

A New York Journal-American editorial was signed by William Randolph Hearst Jr. and carried on the front pages of all Hearst newspapers.

standing for a moderate civil rights plank. Nor was there agreement where to throw the pass that would carry the party beyond the limits of the Eisenhower defense program.

Rockefeller expressed belief that he and Nixon can agree on terms of a plank calling for accelerated efforts to bolster the nation's defense. He saw no probability of a convention floor rickus on this.

But his and the vice president's efforts to get platform committee approval of a civil rights declaration that carried an endorsement of lunch counter sit-ins was another matter.

As Rockefeller himself put it: "We've got the language, but have we got the votes?"

Nixon, working to avoid a floor fight that might delay his own nomination Wednesday night, urged East Coast television viewers had gone to bed, put on a cheerful front.

He called in committee recalcitrants and announced later he believes the necessary votes may be obtained. If they are not, he and Rockefeller expressed confidence that the convention itself will go along with their views.

In the platform committee each state has two votes. On the convention floor, the big vote states supporting a strong plank could smother the opposition.

Texan Built Good Roads in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Herbert Eldridge, who quit as Arkansas first "non-political" highway director last year amid charges of pressure, died unexpectedly at Austin, Tex., yesterday.

The 64-year-old Eldridge was drinking coffee at the home of friends after church when he was stricken ill. He died without being removed from the friends' home. Eldridge came to Arkansas from the Texas Highway Department in 1953 after the Mack Blackwell amendment, designed to take the Arkansas department out of politics, had been approved and a new Highway Commission had been appointed by former Gov. Francis Cherry.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus had been an applicant for the job. Faubus had been the last highway director under the old set-up but at the time was out of public office.

When Faubus ran successfully for governor against Cherry in 1954, he had considerable to say about persons from outside Arkansas being given state jobs.

Dr. E. H. Crawford, former superintendent of State Hospital, was another, along with Eldridge, who was in the line of fire. Faubus didn't get to like Eldridge any better after he became governor although he usually was restrained in his public statements.

Eldridge held on as long as Cherry appointees were in the majority on the commission and for some time afterward.

Finally in March, 1959, after Faubus had appointed four of the present five members of the commission, Eldridge resigned and returned to Austin, where he had lived before coming to Arkansas.

Wagner and Kennedy Go Into Huddle

By G. MILTON KELLY
JYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City flew in today for talks with Sen. John F. Kennedy, predicting that wrangling New York Democratic factions will find a way to harmony.

Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has expressed deep concern about the New York factional strife. He wants some way found to achieve unity, lest feuding among Democrats dump over appearances in New York which casts 45 votes in the Electoral College—more than any other state.

Wagner told reporters at the airport he believed all of the factions want to support the ticket. Kennedy had invited the mayor to discuss some means of bringing the rival factions into some sort of harmonious organization, and to discuss campaign strategy in general.

The conference with Wagner ranked high in importance for this busy week in which Kennedy hopes to clear the decks for the arrival of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the vice-presidential nominee.

Rainstorms Flood Areas of Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Heavy thunderstorms dumped a record 8.41 inches of rainfall on Fayetteville yesterday and today, flooding much of the town and forcing some families from their homes.

"Despite the mountainous terrain of the area, 'It looks like a great, dismal swamp,'" said Northwest Arkansas Times reporter Floyd Carl Jr.

"Nobody knows how much damage there is."

No injuries were reported. Water flowed through streets and poured in windows of some homes. Up to five feet of water stood in some yards.

Street damage was expected to be heavy. The town was virtually cut off from the rest of northwest Arkansas for a time today. All highways were closed. Some traffic was reported moving later in the morning as the rain slackened.

County highways were extremely dangerous. Many bridges were washed out in north and west Washington County.

The heavy rainfall was general in the northwest section of the state but Fayetteville, seared hardest hit. Springdale, 12 miles north, reported 5.5 inches of rain. Some families were being evacuated from low-lying areas near Huntsville, in adjoining Madison County, where state highway 68 and 23 north were closed.

Highway 59 may be closed later today at the Illinois River south of Sloan Springs, the Highway Department reported.

The forecast for tonight and tomorrow offered little hope of relief. It called for partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers, locally heavy in the northwest section.

Water was being pumped out of the Standard Register Co., three miles south of Fayetteville.

In the 24 hour period ending at 7 a.m. today, Fayetteville had 8.41 inches of rainfall, a record for such a period. The old mark was 6.49 set on May 10, 1950. A total of 7.60 inches fell between midnight and 7 a.m.

Four feet of water stood in an underpass on Highway 71 between Fayetteville and Springdale, blocking traffic. State highway 112 was closed between Tontitown and Fayetteville.

Huntsville had 3.00 inches of rainfall overnight, Harrison reported 1.07, Green Forest .475 and Eureka Springs 1.74.

"The rest of the state had some thundershowers last night but no heavy rains were reported. No high winds were reported.

A storm described as a tornado struck Gillett in Arkansas County Saturday, leaving damage estimated by Mayor Joe Cloud at $250,000.

Five planes were destroyed at the city's airport and several barns, garages and outbuildings were damaged. No injuries were reported.

U. S. Pilot's Body Sent Home Today

MOSCOW (AP)—With a prayer and a brief military farewell, the U. S. Embassy today sent home the body of the pilot of the RB47 reconnaissance plane the Soviet Union shot down July 1.

A Soviet medical certificate said the pilot, Capt. Willard G. Palm of Oak Ridge, Tenn., drowned and that his body was found floating in the Parents Sea. The U. S. charge d'affaires, Edward L. Freers, refused to make the full report public because of "legal and political implications."

The body, in its rough wooden coffin, was formally transferred to American custody at a shabby, back-alley morgue. U. S. representatives did not open the coffin. They were told it also contained Palm's flying suit, his shoes and socks and his identification disc.

The embassy provided a station wagon to take the coffin to the airport, but the Russians said the law required it be carried in a refrigerated truck. Instead it was put on an open, canvas-topped Soviet army truck. Ten Soviet privates rode on the truck, and a cortege of American Embassy cars followed. The soldiers got off on route at a barracks.

At the airport eight uniformed officers of the embassy military staff draped an American flag over the coffin and carried it to a saw horses set up beside the KLM plane flying to Amsterdam. At Amsterdam the body will be turned over to the U. S. Air Force, which will fly it back to the United States.

The Soviet Union is holding the two surviving crewmen of the plane for trial as spies. The other three crew members are missing and presumed dead.

Jealousy Is Natural Among the Immature

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
Why is there so much jealousy in families? How could we take jealousy out of our hearts? I know many sisters and brothers who are jealous of each other. Please give me an answer on how to overcome jealousy. Thank you—A friend

Dear Friend: To be jealous means to be distrustful, insecure and fearful of rivalry. Jealousy in families is common. A son will be jealous of his father, a daughter of her mother. Most of us outgrow this. Those who don't remain adolescent in mind.

Jealousy between brothers or sisters also manifests itself at an early age. Each is fighting to hold the love and attention of their parents. That's natural in children but unnatural in adults. It is only eliminated when we become emotionally mature. The antidote to the poison is love. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet on "Jealousy."

Dear Helen:
I am 12. My mother says none of the younger children should wear lipstick. I would like to know if it's true? —Judy

Dear Judy: I'm sure you want to look your best self. For a little girl to paint her lips is to look ridiculous, if not tragic. I like the French idea of a teenage girl remaining a "jeune fille" until she is ready to be presented to society which, according to convention, is 18. Not until then is make-up considered proper and, even then, it should be applied with a light touch. To do otherwise is to gild the lily.

Dear Helen:
You told a 13-year-old girl that she shouldn't kiss her boy friend good night. I feel you didn't take everything into consideration. Even though the boy friend is 16, she and her family approved of him. Don't you feel that if he asked her for a good night kiss and she said no, she would be acting like a prude?

Both the Reverend of our church and my Mom think so. I feel you are too sure when you say she will get into trouble. It is no sin to be kissed. I doubt if you will print this but if you do I would like to know where you got your reason for answering the question as you did. —"The Puritan"

Dear "The Puritan": A 13-year-old girl is too young to have a boy friend, let alone one who

Keynoter in Defense of Republicans

By GEOFFREY GOULD

CHICAGO (AP)—Rep. Walter H. Judd says the Eisenhower administration has kept peace with honor and that "the man this convention will nominate" is incomparably the best qualified to deal with the cold war.

Judd, mount Vice President Richard M. Nixon, but his keynote speech Monday night was on opening day of the Republican National Convention, and Nixon is not slated to be nominated until Wednesday night.

The Minnesota congressman's 6,000-word address followed the classic pattern of keynote orations, though it was longer than most. He sang praises for the Republican record under President Eisenhower, predicted even better things ahead under Nixon, and charged the Democrats were unqualified to meet the challenge.

The delegates, in a relaxed and receptive mood, greeted his salutes with roars of approval.

"What kind of reckless and irresponsible action is it," Judd asked, "for anyone to misrepresent the United States as a second class power, as was done in the Democratic convention, and thereby encourage the very attacks which all Americans profoundly hope and pray can be prevented?"

In this 1800-1900 centennial year, Judd hearkened back to Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president, and said the gravest issue of this century too is human slavery.

"This time not men enslaved by other men," he said, "but masses of men enslaved by governments. More human beings are in bondage tonight than every before in human history."

Dealing with more recent Republican history, Judd said the Eisenhower administration "brought to an end the fighting in the Korean war which the Truman administration would not win and could not stop."

"In addition," he said, "this administration has prevented a half dozen other threats from developing into war—Trieste, the Mossadeh uprising in Iran, Guatemala, Formosa, Suez, Lebanon, Quemoy, West Berlin."

Far from allowing the nation to sag into a dangerous lag in missile strength, as has been charged by Democrats, Judd said, the administration fought and overcame a lag in this field he said was inherited from the Truman administration.

"The Truman administration in eight years had put 17 times more into price supports for peanuts than for long-range missiles," he

Castro arrives for a Big Rally

LAS VEGAS (AP)—Fidel Castro, leader of the Cuban Revolution, arrived in Las Vegas today for a rally celebrating the seventh anniversary of his revolution.

Castro, who has been seen little in public since a recent attack of pneumonia, was cheered by the vast crowds. Castro's appearance dispelled rumors that he was seriously ill.

There had been questions whether he even would appear for his own birthday party. He is expected to use the rally for new attacks on the United States.

In contrast to the dark Castro, President Osvaldo Dorticos was smiling and smiling as he waved to the crowds. He arrived with Castro.

Nixon Choice

GOPs Open Convention

By JACK BELL

CHICAGO (AP)—A quarrelsome Republican party opens its national convention today with Vice President Richard M. Nixon solidly installed as its prospective presidential nominee.

Out of the conflict-tossing, hut-top-passing confusion that marks all gatherings of a political clan, these salient points stood out:

Nixon not only will walk off with the top nomination in a vote set for Wednesday, but he, and he alone, will name his running mate.

Nixon's choice for the vice presidential nomination seemed to lie between U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the party's national chairman. The odds remained on Lodge as the likeliest selection.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York probably would not permit his name to be submitted to the convention as a possible presidential nominee. Even Rockefeller could not find the nucleus that would be required for a successful draft for the top job. Nobody else in this convention could even smell its possibility.

But Rockefeller remained an enigma, with his position largely incomprehensible to the average delegate moving in the make-believe world of tooting bands and shouting cohorts that precedes the usually dull convention routine.

From his subterranean position as a non-candidate for either place on the ticket, Rockefeller threatened to shoot off about the only

CHAPTER XXVI

Artemus turned to Nita, addressing her courteously. "You were shopping yesterday," he suggested.

"Remember the Fifth Amendment," Nita said.

"I know the Fifth Amendment," Artemus repeated his statement and amplified it. "You bought a silk handkerchief in one shop. You bought a veil in another. You bought gloves in the third."

"You say?" Nita answered. "I say," answered Artemus. "You paid for each article with a $10 note."

"Could be, Nita," Nita said. "You'd better keep mum till father comes home."

"If I assured you that I mean no harm to Nita—that I would prefer to be helpful and even avert consequences if possible; would you believe me?"

"Again her bright eyes searched his face. "I guess, Nita, you better crawl out from behind the Fifth Amendment."

"These men, he ees good?" the Mexican girl asked.

"That's open to question," Nita said, "but I think he shoots square."

"I talk," Nita said briefly. "You paid for those purchases," Artemus said, still courteously, with counterfeited $10 notes. Did you know they were counterfeit when you passed them?"

"I think," she said, nodding. "Where did you get them, Nita?" Artemus asked.

"For Manuella I keep them," she said.

"Manuella is Sweet Lips Chayez?"

"Now he does not need them any more. I need money to buy what I wish to know. So I must."

"You thought you could buy information about who killed your man?" he asked.

"Eet ees to be tried, eet ees one way."

"Where did Sweet Lips get this bogus money, Nita?"

"She shook her head firmly. "That he does not tell to me. He makes the secret. Even me he does not tell. But thees he say—that eet is for to spend thees money in Phoenix. He ees to take across into Mexico."

"You have it still?" Artemus asked.

"Do I do harm to the ones who keel my Manuella?" Nita asked earnestly.

"I am sure that you do," he assured her.

"Then I get," she said, and disappeared into her bedroom, which missile that might enliven the present proceedings.

Although he wouldn't say it in as many words, the New York governor's complaint was directed at the heart of the Eisenhower administration's defense program.

The convention platform committee adopted language saying the Republicans have provided and will continue to provide the defenses we need to protect our freedom. The plank promised efforts to improve defense and said "there is no price ceiling on national defense."

Rep. Clifford Lipscomb of California, chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the plank, said it was completed before Nixon and Rockefeller agreed on a statement of principles Friday night, and was not changed later.

When he arrived in New York, Lumumba told newsmen that peace in the Congo depends on the immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops. He thanked the Security Council for its last resolution and offered friendship to President Eisenhower.

Friday night that Belgian troops had finished pulling out of the Leopoldville area, leaving U.N. troops to keep order. Aides said 6,000 men of an eventual 12,000 man U.N. force had been deployed in the Congo to keep order and safeguard the population, Belgium has promised that as fast as the U.N. units take station, she will withdraw her troops to their Congo bases. Lumumba wants the Belgian troops to leave the Congo altogether.

When he arrived in New York, Lumumba told newsmen that peace in the Congo depends on the immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops. He thanked the Security Council for its last resolution and offered friendship to President Eisenhower.

An aide said Lumumba particularly wants the U.N. to send engineers and doctors to the Congo.

The houseman pushed open the swinging door.

"Meester Bayside, he call" the man said.

This might be coincidence, Bayside might have been driving by on his way to or from Scottsdale and have dropped in on the house of the married couple.

"I'll go on," Nita said. "I'll get rid of him."

"He will have seen my car," Artemus objected. "Let's be normal."

Jick preceded Artemus into the spacious living room. The artist had seated himself on the divan looked across the desert to the distant purple mountains. He arose with a little movement and frowned as he saw Artemus.

"Just passing," he smiled.

"Hope I'm not breaking in."

"Indeed not," Jick told him, and then, with the merest glint of mischief in his eyes, "I think you've met Mr. Baldwin."

Bayside nodded, but did not look at the Secret Service man. There remained a slight discolored area on his jaw as a reminder of his encounter with Artemus at the ball park.

"I'm mussy," Jick said, extending his fingers for inspection.

"Mr. Baldwin's been helping me do up a package. My

Pirates Slam Long Balls to Regain Lead

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

They said the trouble with the Pittsburgh Pirates is that they're just a bunch of singles hitters. They lacked the ingredient that helps win pennants—the long ball.

So what did the Bucs do about getting back to first place Monday night? They banged out three home runs and halted the oncoming St. Louis Cardinals with a 4-2 victory that gave them a half-game lead over the idle second-place Milwaukee Braves.

Bill Virdon, Bob Skinner and Roberto Clemente provided the long ball. Virdon hit his homer in the sixth. The blow came off Larry Jackson and tied the score at 1-1. Pittsburgh went ahead, 2-1 in the seventh, when Jackson went out for a pinch hitter.

In the eighth, with Ronnie Kline, a former Pirate on the mound, Skinner hit one into the seats to regain the lead for the Pirates. Then, for insurance, Roberto Clemente homered in the ninth and relief artist Elroy Face came in to seal Bob Friend's 11th triumph of the season.

In the only other game scheduled in either league, the Cincinnati Reds overcame a 5-0 deficit to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6-5. The Cincinnati triumph with two runs in the ninth climaxed an action-packed game in which Ernie Banks of the Cubs was carried off the field after being hit with a pitch and Cincinnati pitcher Joe Nuxhall had to be restrained from assaulting umpire Ed Vargo.

Banks, batting against Don Newcombe in the second inning, was struck on the left knee by a pitch. He fell writhing to the ground and it was feared he had suffered serious injury. Examination showed only a bruise and he was expected to be in the lineup today for his 589th consecutive game.

Chicks May Have to Give Up Their Park

MEMPHIS, (AP) The City Commission may decide today whether the Memphis Chicks of the Southern Assn. may continue to use city-owned Tobey Park during the 1961 season.

Opposition to the move was planned by some residents who object to the lights, dust and traffic noises during and after night games. The park is on the fringe of a fashionable residential area. Other residents were prepared to argue against letting the Chicks use the park because of the liquor and beer advertisements that presumably would decorate the outfield walls.

Tobey Field still would be owned by the city and would be used for high school activities when not in use by the Chicks. The Chicks have agreed to put up stands for 4,200 fans and make other changes to improve the site. The nomadic Chicks haven't found a permanent home since Russwood Park burned last April. For a while they tried Hedges Field but it didn't fit. The 234-foot rightfield fence hardly was suited to baseball.

Ike Thinks Defense Plan Pretty Good

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower thinks the national defense plank recommended by the Republican platform committee is pretty good, the summer White House said today.

And that clearly lined the President up against New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Rockefeller has called the plank inadequate and says it "does not face up realistically to the dangers that threaten the nation."

The plank the platform committee recommended in Chicago, on the eve of the opening of the GOP national convention, praised Eisenhower's conduct of national defense and said it would be continued on a no-price-ceiling basis. Rockefeller has called for a 3 1/2-billion-dollar increase in defense spending this fiscal year. He and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, sure bet for the Republican presidential nomination, agreed over the weekend that there is need for an increase in military spending. But on that occasion they mentioned no specific figure.

Eisenhower for months has taken the position that defense spending is adequate. The White House again today declined comment on the defense views of Rockefeller, who has indicated his big New York delegation may lead a convention floor fight when the platform comes up for a vote Wednesday.

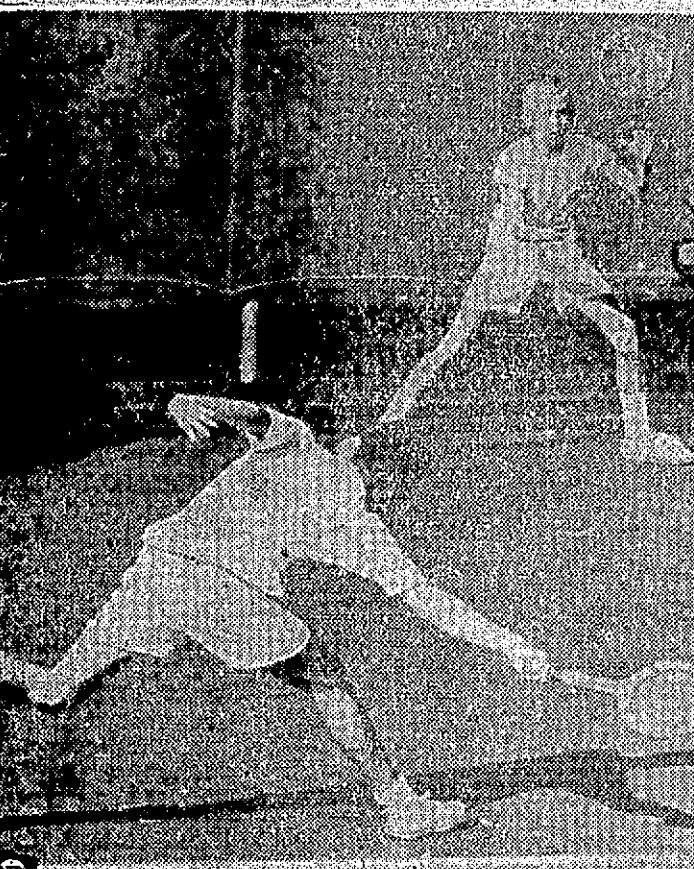

Hagerty also refused again to comment on published reports that Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, versely, of course, it does not take long to establish or modify a breed because of this. If the characteristics desired are natural combinations.

Regardless of the age of a breed, we must realize that its modifications to the type we know today started, in many instances, within the last 75 years, or since the beginning of real interest in bench competition in this country and, of course, the British Isles and Europe.

The administration building at the State Hospital was constructed in 1882.

FORCE-BACK RIDE—Down and out, Roy Sievers suffered further indignity as Johnny Temple rode the White Sox first baseman piggy-back at Comiskey Park in Chicago. The action occurred as the Cleveland second baseman jumped out of the way of Sievers' slide after a force.

GIVE HIM AN ASSIST—Norman Perry of UCLA got some help from Eric Smith, a ball boy, in the National Collegiate Athletic Association quarter-final match in which he defeated Yale's Don Deil in Seattle, who was fourth seeded.

BREEDS OF DOGS ARE RELATIVELY NEW

By JOE STETSON
Dog Editor, Field & Stream

There are types of dogs which have existed for many centuries, but our present breeds, as such, are in most cases relatively new. A god look at a dog show, say 75 years ago, would convince us of the great differences between our dogs now and then.

We had greyhound types and sheep-herding, hound and terrier types and so on through the ages. Owners believed that breeding two good working hounds was quite logical just so long as the two hounds in question were good hounds, though one might resemble an oversize beagle or harrier, and the other a blue tick, Walker, black and tan coon hound or a bloodhound.

The resulting pups would probably become good, bad or indifferent hounds. The good ones were kept, the poorer ones discarded and the good ones bred regardless of unimportant differences in type or color.

To a greater or lesser degree this sort of functional breeding was general in working dogs. Only when civilizations were developed to a high degree did well-typed dogs sometimes result.

The Chinese, particularly, produced well defined types, adapting them to their special interests. They were a special interest of the Chinese. They dwarfed and typed the toy spaniels and the Pekingese, the Chinese erected dog and several other toy varieties, which have been lost since the passing of the Empire.

Dog generations are short. Dog breeds can be lost quickly. Conversely, of course, it does not take long to establish or modify a breed because of this. If the characteristics desired are natural combinations.

Regardless of the age of a breed, we must realize that its modifications to the type we know today started, in many instances, within the last 75 years, or since the beginning of real interest in bench competition in this country and, of course, the British Isles and Europe.

Long Still Not Dead Politically

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana's stormy former governor, Earl Kemp Long, isn't politically dead.

Almost counted out after a losing race for lieutenant governor last winter, Long, 64, stormed back into the political arena Saturday by running a close second in a field of three in his bid to unseat Rep. Harold McSwain in Louisiana's Eighth District.

The patriarch of the family that has dominated Louisiana politics for more than three decades says he'll "certainly win" the primary runoff with McSwain Aug. 27.

Long's first battle cry in the runoff campaign was a statement: "I'm going after Holt." His object is the 10,378 votes polled by Ben F. Holt, 34, Alexandria attorney.

Almost complete unofficial totals showed McSwain had run about 3,700 votes ahead of Long. With 315 of 316 precincts counted, McSwain had 29,854 to 26,128 for Long.

McSwain, 34, completing his first term in Congress in the seat once held by Long's late brother, George S. Long, was equally confident of winning the runoff.

Detonators Found

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Little Rock police today found two military land detonators and a number of baby trap detonators in a paper bag in a parking lot. A parking lot attendant said he saw an elderly man drop the bag in the lot.

Air Police from Little Rock Air Force Base identified the devices and advised city police to throw them in the river. Air Police Sgt. Jack Stewart said the detonators themselves were not dangerous. They are used to set off larger explosives.

June 1, 1921, the Territorial Capitol was established at Little Rock on the authority of an act of the preceding legislature.

Doesn't Think Congress to Be Involved

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate majority leader and Democratic vice presidential candidate, says he does not believe Congress will be a sounding board for party platforms or a campaign stump to promote candidates when it convenes Aug. 8.

He believes Congress will stick to its unfinished business and have a short, but productive session, the Texas told a news conference Sunday at his LBJ Ranch near here.

Republicans have been lambasting the Democrats to enact laws putting their strong civil rights plank and other proposals adopted by the Democratic National Convention into effect during the upcoming session.

"A platform is drawn up for submission to the voters," Johnson said. "If the voters approve of it they will make their decision known in November and it is the duty of the party to carry out the decision in the following congresses."

He reaffirmed his support of the Democratic party platform, saying "I intend to run on the platform."

Johnson, who returned Saturday night from a vacation in Acapulco, Mexico, talked by phone with the presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

He said he and Kennedy will discuss Congress' work and campaign plans when they confer at Hyannis Port, Mass., Aug. 1 or 2.

Managers Estimate High Percentages

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — If you accept the five campaign managers' estimates the five candidates for the nomination for governor will get 183 per cent of the vote in today's primary.

The managers predicted for their candidates: 70 per cent for Gov. Orval E. Faubus, 42 per cent for Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, 30 per cent for H. E. Williams, 28 per cent for Joe C. Hardin, and 13 per cent for Hal Millsap Jr.

Each forecast for his own man. They didn't say what they expected their opponents to do.

Attacks West Again

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has attacked the latest Western disarmament proposals as an attempt to keep stockpiles of weapons handy for aggressive purposes under the guise of disarmament.

"Instead of a concrete reduction and limitation of armaments," Khrushchev wrote British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan

Congo Leader Has Promise of UN Help

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba says U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld has promised him to "spare no effort" to get Belgian troops out of the Congo.

The Congo leader scheduled final talks with Hammarskjöld this morning, prior to the secretary-general's departure tonight for discussions with the Belgian government in Brussels and a survey of the Congo situation from Leopoldville.

Lumumba told a news conference Monday he would go to Washington and to Canada to seek French-speaking technicians for the Congo and then fly back to Leopoldville for another meeting with Hammarskjöld Aug. 5.

The Congo premier said he had asked Hammarskjöld to set a deadline for the withdrawal of Belgian troops. He said Hammarskjöld "assured me he will spare no effort and it is in that spirit that he will negotiate in Brussels with the government of Belgium."

Lumumba accused the Belgians of provoking the mutiny in the Congo army by failing to give promotions to native personnel when independence was granted June 30. He also accused the Belgians of trying to detach the rich province of Katanga, whose government has declared its independence of the central government.

"There is no problem of Katanga," Lumumba declared. "There is only the problem of the withdrawal of the Belgian troops."

The Belgian soldiers, sent into Congolese cities after the native troops mutinied, now are slowly pulling back to their bases in the Congo as a U.N. force of 12,000 moves in to keep order.

Lumumba called again on Belgium to pull her troops entirely out of the Congo, claiming the Belgians had "violated and destroyed" the friendship treaty under which they retained two bases in their former African colony.

Asked if he would renew his threat to call in Soviet troops if the Belgian troops did not quit his country, he said he was convinced Belgium "will have to bow before the Security Council's decision and will have to leave our territory."

Religious services were conducted in Arkansas as early as 1673 by Roman Catholic priests and Canadian Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, "the United States proposes to have states store a definite quantity of arms on their own territories under the supervision of international controllers."

When to Fish or Hunt Solunar Tables

By John Alden Knight

The schedule of Solunar periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major periods are shown in bold face type. These begin at the time shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours there after. The minor periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Plant Seeks Site

COTTER, Ark. (AP)—A work force survey began today in connection with a proposed new Capital Shirt Corp. of New York plant to be located in Arkansas. In a similar survey last week in Cave City, 1751 women applied for jobs in the new plant. De Queen also is being considered as a possible site for the plant.
